PETITION FOR EXEMPTION BASED ON UNDUE BURDEN FROM CLOSED CAPTIONING REQUIREMENTS

Fearless Music, Inc. hereby respectfully submits its request that the Federal

Communication Commission grant its Petition for Exemption Based On Undue Burden

from Closed Captioning Requirements, regarding its video programming "Fearless Music," based upon the clear weight of evidence submitted by Fearless Music, Inc. in this Petition and the accompanying information attached hereto as Exhibits.

I. Background of Fearless Music, Inc.

The video programming entitled "Fearless Music" was first aired January 14, 2004. Since its inception, "Fearless Music" has been developed and produced solely by the programming provider or owner Fearless Music, Inc (hereinafter "Fearless"). The format of the program is highly original: each half-hour episode consists of several upand-coming rock-and-roll bands performing live in the Fearless studios. The musicians perform without voice-over commentary or announcer; the format provides a simple, unadorned way for emerging musicians to deliver their musical product to the listening public. The program has the potential to provide audiences around the nation with the opportunity to see and hear musicians that they would otherwise have no ability to encounter. Fearless has 4 full-time employees and 1 part-time employee. "Fearless Music" currently airs in 23 markets nationwide, on local television network affiliates and on one leased-access television station. However, only one of these markets is in the top 10 national markets; "Fearless Music" currently reaches less than 20 million households. Fearless is currently exploring opportunities to air "Fearless Music" to a national market. While Fearless is hopeful that "Fearless Music" will at some future date air to a national market, Fearless is at present struggling to maintain the liquidity necessary to continue producing "Fearless Music" pending its large-scale debut to a national market.

II. Undue Burden Imposed by Captioning Requirement

The costs of captioning the video programming "Fearless Music" would impose an undue burden on Fearless as a video programming provider or owner because of the significant difficulty and expense that the compliance process would entail. When determining whether the closed captioning requirements will impose an undue burden, the Federal Communication Commission (hereinafter the "Commission") is required to consider the following factors: (i) the nature and cost of the closed captions for the programming; (ii) the impact on the operation of the provider or program owner; (iii) the financial resources of the provider or program owner; (iv) the type of operations of the provider or program owner.

Addressing the first two factors of the Commission's analysis, the nature and cost of the closed captions for the programming and the impact of the captioning requirement on the operation of the provider or programming owner, Fearless estimates that the cost of captioning "Fearless Music" for the programming as dictated by 47 C.F.R.  $\xi$  79.1

would be no less than $1,000 per episode, or no less than $52,000 per year. As detailed in Exhibit 2, attached, the gross receipts for Fearless for the tax year ending December 31, 2004, were $302,161. For this same tax year Fearless suffered a business loss of $33,270. As shown in Exhibit 3, attached, Fearless estimates that for the tax year ending December 31, 2005, it will have gross receipts of approximately $206,697 and a business loss of $18,068. Compliance with closed captioning requirements would, therefore, probably increase the losses already being suffered by Fearless as it struggles to establish itself in the marketplace.

The gross receipt amounts and business losses detailed above become especially important in addressing the third and fourth factors that the Commission considers when making an undue burden determination: the financial resources of the provider or program owner and the type of operations of the provider or program owner. Fearless is a small company, with only five employees, one of them part-time. The video programming "Fearless Music" is Fearless' only source of revenue; it is not as though Fearless is a large company with many different projects or programs producing many different revenue streams, one of which- "Fearless Music" – just happens to lose money. Rather, the opposite is true: Fearless is a small production company whose revenues derive almost exclusively from the video programming "Fearless Music." As such, the costs of closed captioning "Fearless Music" could, to the extent they could threaten the company's continued viability, effectively exclude Fearless and "Fearless Music" from the marketplace.

Implicit in the Section 79.1(f) requirement for demonstrating the financial resources available to Fearless for closed captioning is the extent to which Fearless has secured or attempted to secure sponsorship or contributions from interested third parties, such as distributors or advertisers, towards the expenses for closed captioning. Absent an exemption from the closed captioning requirements, Distributors will simply not accept the programming "Fearless Music," or will cease showing the programming, unless Fearless provides closed captioning at its own expense. Fearless has made numerous attempts to solicit assistance from advertisers to help cover and/or supplement the cost of closed captioning, without success. Advertisers solicited by Fearless for this purpose include J and R Music World, Budweiser, and Panasonic. Because of the fact that the program "Fearless Music" currently reaches less than 20 million households, advertisers are unwilling to incur the financial obligation and risk associated with sponsoring closed captioning. When Fearless reaches its goal of sale and distribution of "Fearless Music" to a large-scale, national market, it may be able to finance the cost of closed captioning either from its own profits or from contributions of advertisers interested in reaching a national audience. Until that time, financing closed captioning costs will prove extremely difficult for Fearless and, indeed, could prevent Fearless from accomplishing national distribution by forcing it to cease production of "Fearless Music."

To further assist the Commission, please find attached hereto as Exhibit 1 the Affidavit of Jamie Lamm, CEO, President and sole shareholder of Fearless, providing sworn financial and historical testimony to supplement and corroborate this Petition. Of course, Fearless stands prepared to furnish any additional information that could aid the Commission in making its undue burden determination.

III. Conclusion

In this Petition, Fearless has explained that the costs associated with providing closed captioning for "Fearless Music" would add upwards of $50,000 in costs to its budget, a budget already severely strained by repeated financial losses. Indeed, the costs of closed captioning could, to the extent they could threaten the company's continued viability, effectively exclude Fearless and "Fearless Music" from the marketplace. Fearless emphasizes again that it desires and intends to continue producing the programming "Fearless Music" until it is capable of absorbing the production costs attendant to providing valuable services like closed captioning.

Wherefore, Fearless respectfully affirms its request that the Commission grant its Petition for Exemption Based on Undue Burden from Closed Captioning Requirements due to the significant difficulty and expense that closed captioning the video programming "Fearless Music" would entail.

AFFIDAVIT OF JAMIE LAMM

I, Jamie Lamm, having been duly sworn, depose and state that I reside at 125 Riverside Drive, Apartment 10G, NY, NY 10024. I further state that I am the CEO, President, and sole shareholder of Fearless Music, Inc., located at 630 9th Avenue, Suite 709, NY, NY 10036, the owner and provider of the video programming "Fearless Music."

This affidavit is provided to supplement our Petition for Exemption Based On Undue Burden from Closed Captioning Requirements. I have reviewed the above referenced Petition for Exemption, and hereby state that the averments made therein are true, accurate and complete to the best of my knowledge.

Further, I assert as follows with respect to the factors to be considered by the Commission in its determination of whether to provide an undue burden exemption for the video programming "Fearless Music:"

Type of Operations of Provider and Financial Data:

The video programming entitled "Fearless Music" was first aired January 14, 2004. Since its inception, "Fearless Music" had been developed and produced solely by Fearless Music, Inc. Fearless Music, Inc. currently has 4 full-time employees and 1 part-time employee. The gross receipts for Fearless Music, Inc. for the most recent tax year ended December 31, 2004 were $302,161. Fearless Music, Inc. had a business loss of $33,270 for the same tax year. I estimate that, for the tax year ending December 31, 2005, Fearless Music, Inc. will have gross receipts of $206,697 and a business loss of $18,068.

Costs Associated with Closed-Captioning Services & Impact on Operation of Provider:

Based on all of the information I have available to me and from the research I have done, the cost to provide closed captioning services to the program "Fearless Music" would be no less than $1000 per episode requiring approximately $52,000 per year to provide captioning for 52 weeks of programming. The impact of forcing Fearless Music, Inc., already operating at a business loss, to incur another $52,000 per year of expenses would seriously endanger Fearless Music, Inc. financially. These costs could threaten the company's continued viability.

Attempts to Obtain Assistance from Distributors and Advertisers to Cover Costs Associated with Captioning:

Fearless Music, Inc. has made numerous attempts to solicit assistance from distributors and advertisers to help cover and/or supplement the cost of closed captioning, without success. Distributors will simply not accept the programming "Fearless Music" or will cease showing the programming "Fearless Music" if Fearless does not provide closed captioning at its own expense. Advertisers solicited include J and R Music World, Budweiser, and Panasonic. Since "Fearless Music" currently reaches less than 20 million households, advertisers are unwilling to incur the financial obligation and risk associated with sponsoring closed-captioning.

Financial Impact on Programming Provider:

The income received from the operation of Fearless Music, Inc. and, in particular, its production of the video programming "Fearless Music" comprises the majority of my personal income for the year. In the event that Fearless Music, Inc. is required to provide closed captioning for the programming "Fearless Music" not only would the continued financial viability of the provider Fearless Music, Inc. be gravely endangered, but my personal financial condition would be seriously jeopardized.

The information provided in this affidavit is true and accurate to the best of my knowledge and belief.

Signed and acknowledged:

Jamie Lamm
